

HEE KER RU

Kerru (b. 2004) is a multidisciplinary artist whose works use a variety of intertextual forms to question established constructs, spark discourse and represent marginalised perspectives. As an individual who is deaf, queer and Asian, she interrogates the taboos of conservative Singaporean society via an aesthetics of maximalist subversion, bringing to light socio-political issues traditionally glossed over by the privileged majority, seeking to spark discourse in pursuit of a more equitable future.
