

LEE SI QI

INTERIOR DESIGN STUDENT

Hello! My name is Si Qi and I am an upcoming and aspiring designer. Since young, I have always known that I am interested in doing things that requires hands-on activities. My design journey started when I decided to take Design and Technology as an elective in secondary school. This class really inspired me to design for a purpose. Before even graduating from secondary school, I have already applied for an early admission into the spatial design course in Nanyang Polytechnic! I believe that design should be designed with an intention to solve issues or improve current situations in the built environment.
